

FALSE ALARM STRIKE

Word reached this office yesterday just as the paper was going to press that a strike had been made in the False Alarm mine, four miles south of this city and only a small note was made of the event. The facts are as follows:

The strike was made by the only workman at the place, a man named Kelly, and word was brought here shortly before noon. In the afternoon a score or more men went to the place to stake out claims and many will doubtless follow.

The strike was made on the tunnel which is about 100 feet long and where the find was made 100 feet in depth. Several days ago trouble resulted from encountering a flow of water and it was in order to avoid this that the trend of the tunnel was changed and the strike was then made. The formation is quartz and there is a ledge of about 18 inches of the ore carrying body and then clay, and then talc. No hanging wall has been discovered as yet and it is unknown whether the tale carries values or not but it is thought it does. In the main ore ledge there is a rich streak of valuable gold carrying ore. What it will assay is unknown but samples have been brought to the city and it is estimated by various miners that it will run from $100 to $250 a ton. The width of the ledge is not yet known.

The tunnel at the place has been worked for a long time, being driven through granite and the strike is made after long, arduous toil. The False Alarm is the property of Joan Vieira, Ollie Tennant, Chas. Stewart, E. D. Kelley, Ed. Bettencourt, Judge Massey of Reno and a couple of traveling men named White and Armstrong of California.

The False Alarm is in the same district as the Coltaire and the Chloride Queen, the latter mine being bonded recently by the L. M. Sullivan Trust company of Goldfield. The Chloride Queen adjoins it directly on the east while the Coltaire is over the hill from the place.

The strike means everything to this city for it will stimulate prospecting about here to a degree never before reached about here. Already excitement is running high and if the locators begin work some remarkable showings will be made.

Goldfield capital is already interested in Jumbo district and if the present find at the False Alarm should prove to be what it is reported Carson City will go ahead more rapidly than ever.

Senator and Mrs. Brougher, Miss Brougher, Miss Thompson, Miss Murphy, Miss Barkley, Miss Klein, Mrs. J. H. Wood, Senator and Mrs. Livingston and Mr. Sinclair, were among the friends who went from Carson City to attend the funeral of the late Ellen Virgin.

Mrs. E. F. Morton returned this morning from a visit with Reno friends.

NEW BRIDGE ACROSS THE TRUCKEE RIVER

RENO, Oct. 3.—The Reno construction company procured the contract yesterday to build the bridge across the Truckee river near the Chism ranch for the Riverside Electric railroad. The plans call for a truss bridge with two central piers and heavy concrete abutments. The work indicates the sincerity of the men behind the project to improve the Mayberry ranch as a resort and to build an electric road to the place.

Two miles of steel rails for the electric road have been secured, according to Manager Nicholas, and the Southern Pacific has agreed to deliver them within the next fifteen days. The remaining three miles of rails will be produced from a lumber railroad in the Sierras. It is said that actual construction of the line will begin as soon as the materials are delivered.

Harry Baldwin and wife have returned to Reno where they will reside in the future.

DAYTON REDIVIVUS

Dayton, upon coming next to Genoa, Douglas county, is the oldest its standing ground on emigrant to Carson City. The wagon trains crossing the continent after the discovery of gold in California in 1848. Two trains usually followed the Carson river on their way west and recruited their stock in the vicinity of the present townsite, which has evolved in recent years from a mere village to one of the most bustling towns in Nevada, considering its population. This transformation has resulted from the revival of the mining industry in Comstock and adjacent districts and the installment of ore reduction plants in the suburbs, and this activity promises to be materially augmented by recent developments in Dietrich district for which will be the supply point. The sylvan surroundings of the town with its cottage homes embowered in trees and fragrant with the perfume of flowers with a long vista of emerald fields of blooming alfalfa and waving corn, with glimpses of the Carson river shimmering through the foliage of its timber belted banks, make it an inviting rural resort within short distance of the Comstock scarcely a day's passing without several visitors from this city being seen in town. Quilted building appeared last year would be a creditable structure in a metropolitan city.—Va. Chronicle.

George D. Oliver arrived this morning from Hobart Mills and will make a trip through Carson Valley tomorrow, returning to the lively lumber camp tomorrow evening.

FUNERAL OF MISS VIRGIN

The funeral of the late Ellen Virgin took place in Genoa yesterday and was the largest ever seen in the valley. From miles around friends came to pay their last respects to one who had spent the greater portion of her life in such midst and one who was a real favorite with all who knew her.

The services were conducted by Rev. Father Garland of this city and were very impressive. The casket was entirely hidden by the floral tributes of relatives and friends and the funeral procession to the cemetery was long and imposing.

Mrs. E. S. Christian has gone to Reno to visit friends there.

OUT OF MISCHIEF WHEN ASLEEP

One evening this summer, in the Montezuma club at Goldfield, says Sam Doten in the Gazette, a group of men were discussing Reno and Carson and other Nevada towns much as newcomers in a Connecticut village might speak of a bewhiskered deacon who has resided there since Noah's flood.

They dwelt at some length on the attractiveness of Berkeley and the other suburban cities around San Francisco bay, plainly regarding them as exceptionally fine home cities, yet a little too far from the mining country. They then poked at Reno and Carson with respect but without reverence.

One speaker said: "I like Carson. It's a sleepy place but very pretty; has good schools, nice homes, excellent drinking water and such a lot of trees. It is surely the prettiest town in Nevada. The streets and alleys are much cleaner than those in Reno, too."

We often hear people remark that "He's a dead boy when asleep," and from that point of view Carson City must be a good town all the time. But after all, the boy who has some slumber in his composition and does not sleep all the time, even though he manages to stir up some mischief when awake, is the boy we admire more, and it is really refreshing to know that Carson City is arousing, and it will not always be "Sleepy Hollow."

WEBER'S MIND EXAMINED

SAN FRANCISCO, October 3.—Dr. F. E. Blaisdell, head of the anatomy department of Cooper Medical College, made an examination of Adolph Weber's brain. Decomposition had progressed to some extent, but the doctor states that he was able to determine that the young man who killed his father, mother, brother and sister was not insane.

Dr. Blaisdell said: "I have so far, from what microscopical examination I have been able to make, found little of the abnormal in Adolph Weber's make up. It will take time for a thorough study I intend to retain the corpse for a year if necessary, and with my limited time I believe it will take nearly that long."

"In dissecting the head I found the skull to be thicker than normal. The bony vault of the brain cavity was slightly non-symmetrical. These abnormalities, however, do not show that Weber was insane or even a monomaniac."

Dr. Stanley Stillman, another member of the faculty of the Cooper Medical college does not believe that Blaisdell's work on Weber's body will be fruitful. "It is a crazy idea," he said. "I do not believe that the facts of criminals are traceable in their construction, through anatomical dissection."

This plant, it is said, will make and is making, great desert regions valuable for pasturage and forage. TEX RICKARD IS WORTH A MILLION

RENO, Oct. 3.—Larry Sullivan did not mistake when he stated at the Goldfield fight that Tex Rickard is worth probably a million and that he "culminated" all his wealth in Nevada mines, for the promoter of the arena contests arrived here last night after attending the celebration at Ely and he stated that he owns 64,000 shares of Ely Nevada, which is now selling in New York for $1.25.

"It's the greatest mining camp in the world," said Rickard at the Goldfield last night. Ore extends for eleven miles down the canyon and the fields are at least one half mile in width."

Tex said he will not offer a purse for the Britt Gans mill on Christmas day because Gans is so much the superior of the California boy that the odds would be fifty to one in favor of the negro.

Rickard says he will follow the more serious work of mining and that he will not return to the mining promotion game unless he does it for a little recreation.

Rickard will leave this morning for Goldfield.
